

UNIVERSITY OF OMAHA OBSERVES FIRST ANNUAL FOUNDER'S DAY

Early Pictures Were Shown in the Auditorium.

SPONSORED BY Y

The first annual Founder's Day was observed at assembly held in the auditorium, last Friday, February 27. The main speaker was Mrs. Herbert Daniels, a graduate of the class of 1913, who showed pictures of the early days of the institution and explained their origin. Dr. W. Gilbert James told of the significance of Founder's Day and expressed the hope that it would be carried on. He likewise paid tribute to Dr. Daniel E. Jenkins, the founder and president of the institution for 20 years.

Miss Margaret Fischer delivered a short talk on the part of the Alumni association. Mr. Wilson T. Graham, a representative member of the old board, was to have given an address but owing to the recent death of his wife, was unable to attend. Time did not permit Dr. Vartanian to give his talk.

Mrs. Daniels mentioned that some of the early students have distinguished themselves in their chosen professions. Among these are Mr. Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald; Mr. Harry Jerome, professor in Wisconsin University; Mr. Stanton Salisbury, chaplain in the U. S. Navy; Miss Dorothy Scott, chemist for the U. S. Government; and Mebane Ramsey, pastor of a large church in Brooklyn, N. Y. Many others are serving in that field of teaching in Omaha and Chicago.

Dr. James read a letter from the widow of Dr. Jenkins in which she congratulated the University on the fact that the students are facing the reality of a permanently established university with a guarantee of support for its future.

An exhibit of early Gateways, as the annuals were called, attracted a crowd in the library. The day was sponsored by the Y organization with Jeannette Winters in charge.

Most Beautiful Coed Selected by R. Vallee

Someone of the seven Midland College co-eds, within the next month, will gain possession of two coveted prizes—one of them, the title of the most beautiful girl on Midland's campus, and the other, an autographed photograph of Rudy Vallee, famed radio singer.

The famed crooner, whose voice has won the hearts of millions throughout the world, has consented to select Midland's most beautiful co-ed this year, and in addition he has announced that to the winner he will present an autographed copy of his latest photo.

The results of the annual Who's Who vote which is sponsored by the Midland newspaper for the seven most beautiful girls on the campus were as follows: Mary Martin, Elfrida Petersen, and Jean Young of Fremont; Naomi Larsen of Wolbach; Mildred Jensen, St. Edward; Ruth Rautenstrauss, Creton; and Greta Polenske, Hastings.

In addition to selecting the seven girls for the most beautiful co-ed honor, students named the school's most handsome man, most popular man and woman, most popular professor, most witty person, and the most devoted couple.

LOGAN PRESENTS CHOIR

Prof. M. J. Logan is planning to present the choir of the Pearl Methodist church in "The Seven Last Words of Christ" on Good Friday, April 3. He has extended invitations to organizations in Malvern and Missouri Valley to join in the concert and expects a chorus of around one hundred voices.

Y CANDY SALES

The Y. W. C. A. has reserved the next six Fridays from 10:00 to 10:40 for Candy Sales. The price is five cents per bag. Don't forget your nickels. The money is to be one of the sources of the tuition of Grace Yao, the Chinese student, that is being financed by the university.

Remember to bring your nickels right under the clock on Fridays at 10:00 o'clock.

Sons Follow in Footsteps of Fathers At Missouri Uni

"Like father, like son," observed some ancient wit. Whether it speaks well for the father or not, the old adage applies quite accurately to Missouri youths who are following in the footsteps of their fathers in choosing their occupations, according to the "Missouri Student."

According to the statistics prepared by S. W. Canada, registrar of the University, most of the sons in professional schools and colleges have decided to be "what dad is." Here's what the statistics reveal:

Two hundred five sons of farmers have entered the College of Agriculture, while only sixty-six proteges of the country have gone into engineering, twenty-two into journalism, nineteen into law, and fifteen into medicine.

Likewise, sixty-seven engineers' sons have entered the College of Engineering at the University, while fifteen have gone into journalism, ten into agriculture, four into law and none into medicine.

Seventeen budding young journalists have accepted the advice of their fathers and entered the School of Journalism, as compared to the five who have gone into engineering, three into agriculture, and two into law.

Twenty-two students in the School of Law are the sons of lawyers. Two sons of barristers are in the agriculture and two in engineering, while sixteen have entered the School of Journalism. There are no lawyers' sons in the School of Medicine.

Only one doctor's son is registered in the School of Law, while there are thirteen each in the College of Engineering and the School of Journalism, five in the College of Agriculture, and twelve in the School of Medicine.

Mrs. W. T. Graham Dies of Heart Failure

Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, wife of Wilson T. Graham, one of the board of regents, died early Sunday morning, February 22. Death was due to heart failure. Mrs. Graham had been a resident of Omaha for 13 years. She was active in church and club work. She was a member of the Omaha Woman's Club, the College Club, and of the Central United Presbyterian Church. At one time she was chairman of the Nebraska Republican State Committee.

The University of Omaha, on behalf of the faculty and student body, sent a tribute.

PLECTORAL SYMPHONY

The Omaha Plectoral Symphony, composed of twenty frotted instruments, was presented by the University Conservatory of Music in a concert at Jostyn Hall Auditorium, Friday evening, February 27.

The most unique number played was "Chinese Suite", composed by Frank Buckingham, director of the symphony and member of the Conservatory faculty.

DEBATE ON WOMEN'S SMOKING AT Y MEETING

Edythe Grobmann read several selections at the joint meeting of the Y's, March 4, in the Conservatory Auditorium. Helena Gebuhr and Edwin Hogle, two of the members of the former University debating squad which were Missouri Valley Conference Champions, debated on the subject, Resolved: that women's smoking is detrimental to women in particular and to society in general.

At the February 25 meeting of these organizations, Franklin Doty and George Thatcher presented a piano duet. Mrs. C. E. Melton entertained with a group of readings: "The Court in Scene", "Maybe You Do But I Doubt It", "Poor Pussy Cat", and other selections.

Faculty Party Held At Johnson Home

The monthly Faculty meeting, in the form of a party, was held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Johnson on Thursday, February 19.

Business was forgotten for the evening and the forty-two members present devoted themselves to games and other diversions. A great deal of merriment was derived from the punning of names and the mock "intelligence tests." The honor of having the highest "I. Q." went to Mrs. Cecil Berryman, but the name of the member who stood lowest was not divulged to the inquiring reporter.

The entertainment committee consisted of Mr. Orr, Mrs. Weber, Dean Stevens, and Mr. Maxwell. Refreshments were served, and the faculty voted it one of their most enjoyable and successful meetings.

Other Candidates

Other educator who were considered for the presidency include:

Richard Aspinall, former president of Western State College, Gunnison, Colorado.

Fred E. Ayer, dean of the college of engineering and commerce, University of Akron, Ohio.

Robert T. Hill, until recently secretary of the council on adult education for the foreign born in New York City.

John Matzen, former state superintendent of public instruction for the state of Nebraska.

Charles H. Meyerholz, director of the extension division for the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Louis A. Pechstein, dean of the college of education, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Warren W. Phelan, former dean of the school of education, University of Oklahoma and until recently president of Oklahoma Baptist university, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

SOLVE DANCE PROBLEM

The selection of dates for the annual spring fraternity dances was solved in a very unique way at the Western State Teachers' College at Gunnison, Colorado. The dean of the school placed slips of paper in a hat on which available dates were written. The various presidents of the fraternities met and each drew a date from the hat, thus eliminating any chance of two dances being planned for the same night.

Dean A. J. Dunlap was out of school for three days last week with wrestler's infection, which he caught from his son, Bob, who became infected from the mats at North High School.

LECTURE ON COAL AT LAST CHEM MEETING

A meeting of the Chemistry Club was held on Wednesday, February 25th, at which time Mr. Briggs, chemist of the Nebraska Power, gave one of the most interesting lectures of the year on the analysis of coal.

Mr. Briggs in his lecture told of the various substances coal is analysed for and some of the simplest methods of doing it. He gave a few very interesting facts on the development of coal from prehistoric vegetation and mentioned that the earliest recorded use of coal called, "fire rock" was about 300 B. C. At that time it was used exclusively by the smiths for forging work.

The use of coal has been tremendously increased during the last century and it is used in the manufacture of so many things that quoting Mr. Briggs, "the service that we get today is largely taken for granted."

Conduct Survey of Outside Reading

At the last meeting of the Sigma Tau Delta, plans were made to conduct a survey of the choice of literature read by the students of the U. of O. in their outside reading. The survey will be carried out with the assistance of Miss Chesnut Jeannette Winters is the chairman of the committee in charge of this work.

A membership committee is at work in the office checking up the credentials of prospective pledges. More complete information will be given at a later information.

Study of Mobility

The Abstract Service Sheet, published monthly by the University of Omaha Bureau of Social Research, contains, in the February edition, the results of the study of intra-mobility in Omaha for the period of 1927-28-29. It was found that the average annual percent of mobility was 20.9 or that about one fifth of the families in Omaha change residence one or more times a year.

Various reasons were given for mobility and the bad effects that result. A copy of the sheet of full particulars about the Study may be had by writing or otherwise communicating with Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, director of research.

Kenneth McDermott was at the head of the students who made the survey.

Mr. Perkins Talks on Water Purification

The speaker at the regular meeting of the Chemistry Club Wednesday, February 18th, was Mr. Perkins of the Perkins Testing Laboratory.

Mr. Perkins talked on the subject of water purification for swimming pools. He outlined the various methods of purification and the impurities commonly encountered in a way interesting not only to the chemistry student but to the person without chemical knowledge as well.

Mr. Perkins is at the head of one of the most unique laboratories in the country. It is primarily engaged in providing the best swimming pool water and in designing equipment for keeping the water in swimming pools in a pure germless state. Mr. Perkins is recognized as a national authority on swimming pool design and as such helped construct many middle western pools as well as some in the east.

ARTICLES IN PRINT

Dr. T. Earl Sullenger's article on "Relation of Juvenile Delinquency and Outdoor Relief" has been published in the January-February issue of Sociology Research, printed by the University of Southern California.

Another article, "Family Recreation" is to appear in the April edition of "Playground and Recreation", published in New York City by the National Recreation Association.

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION REGARDING THE RENAMING OF THE GATEWAY

GRADUATES, NOTICE!!

Washington Motif Prominent at Y Formal Reception

A black and white motif, in honor of Washington's Birthday, was cleverly carried out in the decoration scheme of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s Formal Reception held in Jacob's hall on Monday, February 23.

White curtains, draped back from the stage, and relieved by a few appropriate Colonial faces and figures in black silhouette, made a striking frame for the evening's program.

The receiving line was composed of: Dr. and Mrs. W. Gilbert James, Dr. and Mrs. Vartanian, Evelyn Plouzek, President of the University branch of the Y. W. C. A., Bruce Gideon, Vice-president of the University Y. M. C. A., Mrs. Rene Stevens, and Glen Griffith, representative from the city Y. M. C. A.

The program was opened with selections by a string trio made up of members of Evelyn McDonald's Orchestra. Mildred Gibson then sang two vocal solos, Mary Jane Davies entertained the group with two tap dances. To the accompaniment of his guitar, Howard Green sang several popular songs, and, at the request of the audience, his own composition "Halitosis."

The University Male Quartette, the members of which are: Bruce Gideon, Kenneth Hubler, Clark Wohlers, and Hoyt Griffin, sang two favorites, "Little Elf Man" and "Good Night"; after which three entertaining readings were given by James Doty, an alumnus of the University.

The feature of the program was a talk by Dr. Vartanian on the "Aims of the Y", in which he presented the ideal purposes of this institution and its beneficial influence within the University.

Ice-cream in individual cups, decorated with yellow and green frozen cream, two kinds of cookies, and mints were served as refreshments.

"Suppressed Desires" Is Cleverly Enacted

The best one-act play staged thus far by the Play Production class was presented at the Friday, Feb. 20 assembly. The comedy was "Suppressed Desires", written by George Cook and Susan Glasbell.

The characters taking part were Fred Wides as Stephen Brewster, the much harassed husband; Maxine Munt as his wife, Henrietta Brewster, who was very much interested in psychoanalysis; and Vesta May, who played the part of Henrietta's sister, Mabel, from Chicago. The play was directed by Edythe Grobmann.

The plot was based on the fact that although every one may have suppressed desires, they are not as bad as the psychoanalysts would have us believe.

"There seemed to be more suppression than ever before," stated Miss Gloria Martin. "Although I have read the play and seen it acted many times I got a new angle on it," confirming the reactions of the entire audience.

Irvin A. J. Dunlap addressed the United Improvement Club at the City Hall, Monday night, March 2, at eight o'clock.

On Tuesday night, March 3, Dean Dunlap appeared on the F. T. A. program of Burleigh school.

Dr. James Does Not Favor the Changing of Name.

MAJORITY OPPOSE

There has been much discussion lately in regard to the changing of the name of this paper. In an effort to get the students' opinion on this question, the fraternities, sororities, and various other organizations were asked to vote on the question. The majority of these that have made a report do not favor a change.

"I see no particular need of changing the name of the paper," stated Dr. W. Gilbert James, "for if traditions are to be made, one must not continually be changing. It was first called the Gateway because it expressed the idea of Omaha being the gateway to the West, with Omaha University as the gateway to education."

Mabel Shively, editor, expressed the idea that the change was immaterial to her but that it was entirely up to the student body. She added, however, that some significance should be attached to the name, so that the word "Gateway" will not leave a question in the reader's mind.

"Leave it the way it is," declared Ruth McKenzie. "The prestige has been established. And also, the name can be applied to any type of work in the paper—it doesn't call for any particular type of literature."

Benny Huff, Barbara Dallas, and Evelyn Howard also expressed their opinion in favor of the present name. However, Bruce Gideon thinks that the name should be changed, as does the entire Theta fraternity, according to N. K. Woerner, their president.

Interpretation Class Is Truly Constructive

"The quality of mercy is not strained—" thus declaimed the young Bernhards and Booths in Dr. James' Shakespearean Interpretation class, while "emoting" various scenes from "The Merchant of Venice", the first play selected for class study.

"We plan during the semester," stated Dr. James, "to study and interpret six plays, 'The Merchant of Venice', 'Macbeth', 'Hamlet', 'Julius Caesar', 'A Midsummer Night's Dream', and 'As You Like It'. We study one act each week. Each student makes a cutting from the act, studies it, and delivers it in the class. The sixth week, when the play has been completed, each student will select one of the cuttings which he has made, memorize, and develop it for presentation. Some of the cuttings are to be presented at assembly. At the end of the semester, each student will have his notebook, thirty cuttings from the semester's work, and a repertoire of six memorized selections."

This Shakespearean course is a constructive course both in the field of English and of dramatic and student interest in either line, would find it to their advantage to include this subject in their program.

The characters taking part were Fred Wides as Stephen Brewster, the much harassed husband; Maxine Munt as his wife, Henrietta Brewster, who was very much interested in psychoanalysis; and Vesta May, who played the part of Henrietta's sister, Mabel, from Chicago. The play was directed by Edythe Grobmann.

Chesterton Speaks at Pasadena, Jr. College On Ignorant Educated

Gilbert K. Chesterton, English author and connoisseur in wit and paradox, spoke at the Pasadena Junior College, February 16, under the auspices of the Pasadena Lecture course.

Known as a pronounced foe of anything that would disparage the human enterprise, his subject-topical exposing the fallacies of modern culture and education, was characteristically entitled, "The Ignorance of the Educated."

Mr. Chesterton directed his shafts of irony and humor at those who believed themselves to be the cultured few. In masterly fashion, shown by the appreciative laughter of his audience, he pointedly attacked the shallow reasoning of the economist, the pretentious publicity of the newspaper, the maddlesomeness of the pseudo-scientist, and the gullibility of the many types of educated people.

As a philosopher, "G. K." believes enough in the human race to give it some hope for the future. In summary he said:

"Let us cultivate a little humility, a little less insolent belief in our infallibility and remember that it is easier to make out a case for the infallibility of the mob than for the infallibility of the educated."

Miscellany

A business man who was looking through his daughter's copy of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" remarked that, judging from the spelling, Chaucer must have dictated his stuff to a stenographer.

"The amount of this levy at present is equivalent to having an endowment of approximately seven million dollars invested at five per cent," stated Mr. Davidson. "However, as the city grows, this amount of tax will be increased."

"It probably will be some time before a campus is decided upon. But when the selection of a campus is taken up, you can be assured it will be the best money can buy. I see a great promise for the Municipal University of Omaha," he concluded.

Dear Cynthia:

Something happened the other day that won't happen again even if I live to be a hundred years old. Can you guess what it was?

Dear Donny:

Sure I can guess. You were seventeen years old. Am I right?

Cynthia.

Malvern Festival Is High Spot of Drama Travel League Tour

The 1931 Malvern Festival will be the high spot of a travel study tour announced by the Drama League of America further in its plans of fostering international relations in the field of the drama. This trip, planned to meet the needs of students and workers in the theatre, will extend the same privileges and personal contacts offered in the former Drama League tours.

Because of the great wealth of material offered to the students of the theatre this summer in England, the Drama League in co-operation with Sir Barry Jackson, Sir Archibald Flower, and Miss de Reyes of Citizen House, Bath—has arranged this six weeks' English pilgrimage. Sailing late in July, the group will arrive in England the first of August, and will proceed directly to Bath to attend the full Summer Session of the School for Dramatic Production at Citizen House. From there they will go to Stratford for the Summer Shakespeare Festival and the performances in the Memorial Theatre.

Next they will journey to Malvern, situated on the edge of the beautiful Cotswold Hills, for the third Malvern Festival season. On the final lap the party travels to London for six days of theatre going for sightseeing (with special attention to the places of drama interest), and for trips to Canterbury and Cambridge.

The Malvern Festival is of special interest to American students in that it offers five centuries of English drama in the course of six nights. The actual Birmingham Theatre Repertory Company, under the supervision of Sir Barry Jackson, will present the plays. It is rumored that the final production will be a new play by Shaw, whose "Apple Cart" had its initial performance at Malvern in 1929.

The Summer School at Bath, described by a contemporary playwright as "The only dramatic laboratory in England" is held at the Little Theatre in Citizen House. Citizen House itself, formerly the home of the Dukes of Buckingham, is an old mansion adjoining the Baths, Pump Room and Abbey. It contains an outdoor and indoor theatre equipped with costume galleries, modern lighting, and scene-sets which will be available for productions undertaken by the members of the Summer School. All branches of stage, production, scene designing and costume making are taught in the rehearsal rooms and studios, and public performances are given by members at the completion of the course.

A scientist says that he will soon be able to understand animal talk. It will be a fine opportunity to call a skunk to one side and ask him what his idea is.

Joe: Do you come from Boston? Harold: Hell, no! I'm taking this because I put my mouth on a bottle.

Boy Friend: Are you warm enough, dear? Julia: I never had a hot blanket yet.

She: "I'm telling you for the first time that you can't kiss me." He: "I know you can't kiss me, but I'm telling you."

Mother: "I'm so proud of you for the first girl in the family." Little: "Yes, but how can I be the first girl when I'm the only one?"

Cardinals Open Their 1931 Baseball Season

CARDINALS CHANGE TO BASEBALL ATTIRE

Have Initial Workout in Gym on Last Saturday.

BRADFIELD GIVES EXERCISE

It certainly did not take those versatile birds, the Cardinals, long to change their sporting attire from basketball suits to base-ball suits. Friday night of the past week saw the close of the basketball season; the next afternoon in the gym the Cardinals were having their initial workout preparatory to the baseball season.

Coach Bradfield had the men throwing balls around for the first part of the practise. After about a half-hour spent in this manner, he directed a short period of setting-up exercises. The exercises terminated the first drill.

Coach Bradfield is optimistic about the prospects for a successful season. He says there is evidence of some good material, and that, if the men show the right amount of interest plus a certain amount of training, there should be no reason why the team cannot make a very successful season.

The team of the previous season made a fair record although the competition played was, in most cases, of not high enough caliber to be a fair test. Last year the team split even in a two-game series with the Fort Omaha Soldier team, which later played in the Metropolitan League.

The schedule for the coming season is not yet complete. Dean Dunlap, who is drawing up the schedule, is hopeful of getting a two game series with Barney Burch's Western League as a start off. It is not improbable that he will secure these games for Mr. Burch is always willing to co-operate with the University in any way. Other games that may be played are: The University of Nebraska Agricultural College at Lincoln, the two state teachers colleges at Marysville and Tarkio, Missouri, and perhaps some schools in Iowa.

Any men interested in baseball or track should report to Coach Bradfield at once and watch the bulletin board for notices as to practices.

Senior Section

A very elite group of campus dignitaries, commonly called seniors, met on Tuesday, February 24, 1931, in room 4. Having nothing else to do, the chair was authorized by the group to appoint several committees. Various matters of varying importance were discussed with little hope or no real decision being reached.

Woerner, Hickard, and Wilson were appointed on a committee to gather together information about a class plan. Bids are still open. Anything but a safety pin will do. The married ladies in the class ruled against that.

Senior recognition day will soon be here. On that day the seniors are the life of the party and are excused (for the seniors). At least Dalila, Mari, Mary, and Roberto, and Dave were selected to see their influence in that direction.

It seems like somewhere in the past week, while out on the job, that some of the seniors should have been to the Alma Mater to see the new building. It seems like to some of the seniors, the new building is a wonderful thing, so they are not to be seen there. It seems like to some of the seniors, the new building is a wonderful thing, so they are not to be seen there.

Many Omaha University men are showing in amateur basketball games. In almost every game played by the Cardinals, there are several students showing up to watch.

Stanton, Peru's pre-eminent athlete, has been elected captain of next year's basketball team.

Girls' B. B. Team In Running for City Championship Now

The University of Omaha girls basketball team successfully repulsed the Nighthawks 16 to 10, and the Holy Name School 20 to 8.

Rose Weber was the outstanding member of this unique aggregation. The combination of the forwards and the guards is becoming more polished in its floor work and in consistent basket shooting.

These girls are tied for second place in the City League, and have an excellent opportunity to again win the conference honors, which they have successfully attained for the last two years.

The team plays the Letter Shop quintet and the Pioneer Aircraft aggregation this next week. If they win these two games they will be top heavy favorites to run away with the rest of the cage honors for the season.

Line Up

Peg Gloe, center
Maxine Munt, forward
Myrtle Grip, guard
Dorothy Austin, guard
Genevieve Welch, guard
Dorothy Hughes, guard
Rose Weber, center

Min Lathrop coaches this outfit and has been quite successful in her unusual role.

TOPICS IN GRIEF

If it be true, as a Presbyterian minister is alleged to have asserted, that the girls in Southwestern College, Memphis, wear pajamas, shorts, and veils whenever they attend dances, the Tennessee school may expect an influx of male students for its spring term.

There is nothing surprising in the opinion of the two-thirds of the Dartmouth students who said they would marry for money if they had a chance. To us it has only been how soon and how much.

The contest that is now on at Oregon University among the men to see who can raise the curliest, grizzliest, reddest, most distinguished, etc., beard, certainly has one bad feature. Imagine how the co-eds will feel!

The statement of the Canadian Railways official that students in the lower third of their class make the best success in business, gives new hope to many. The explanation must be that they are not smart enough to become professors, and so must go to work.

Just why the authorities at Montana State College delivered the ultimatum that all co-eds must be in bed by 11:00 P. M. is not known. Montana was once a part of the Bad Lands. Certainly civilization has progressed a little.

A recent speech by President Butler of Columbia University was broadcast to the alumni over 55 stations throughout the nation, and via short wave to many foreign countries. A notable undertaking and a good method of retaining alumni loyalty.

Peru Normal defeated Kearney Teachers, 30 to 17, in a fast and furious game last Saturday night.

Down in the South where it's cold, Earl Maxwell, winner of the World's championship for basketball free throw in 1927, is still going strong as a pro. His most recent achievement was the landing of 600 out of 750 trials, all within the course of thirty hours. In shooting free throws, Mr. Maxwell showed his warm Indian, and southern, in audacious, and in one school, he used a duck as a basket.

Many Omaha University men are showing in amateur basketball games. In almost every game played by the Cardinals, there are several students showing up to watch.

Stanton, Peru's pre-eminent athlete, has been elected captain of next year's basketball team.

Norfolk Avenges Loss At Season's Opening

Norfolk Junior College avenged an early season defeat at the hands of the Omaha University basketball team there Tuesday night, Feb. 17 by defeating the Omahans, 28 to 17. After a slow start the contest developed into a rough and tumble affair. The score was tied 9 to 9 at the half.

Hegarty was put out of the game because of personal fouls, and Armentrout, who replaced him, was taken out for the same reason. Dayenport scored 12 points and Chandler 8 for Norfolk. Huff and Sales were outstanding for the Municipals.

Armentrout spent three minutes making four fouls and five points. Krutchen replaced him at guard and finished the game.

Lineup:

OMAHA
Forwards—Thompson, Huff.
Guards—Sales, Hegarty.
Center—Fry.

CARD BARRISTER INJURED

Sandy Armentrout, versatile hooper, suffered a painful cut in his head during the game with Dana College. Sandy has been seen about the campus with his head in a sling. It has been reported, however, that hard heads are not seriously affected by abrasions. Sandy will not suffer long if such is the case. Sandy was not able to finish the rest of the season.

SERVICE BUREAU

A musical program was presented by the Music Service Bureau at the Pearl M. E. Church, Feb. 18, at an afternoon meeting. Genevieve Wilson was pianist. Glendora McLean, violinist, Joe Wandscheer, vocalist. The male quartette also sang. This quartette is composed of Bruce Glendon, Kenneth Hubler, Hoyt Griffin, and Clark Wohlers.

Thursday, Feb. 19, a half an hour program was given by Joe Wandscheer, baritone soloist, at the P. E. O. meeting. Elsie Ptak accompanied Mr. Wandscheer.

Maxine Delavan, mezzo-soprano, and Rose Brandels, pianist, were featured at a musical tea given at the residence of Mrs. Landeryou, Monday, Feb. 23. This was a D. A. R. affair.

Tuesday, Feb. 24, Rose Brandels pianist and accompanist, and Elizabeth Chase, contralto, presented several numbers at the Omaha Women's Club.

RECENT RADIO PROGRAMS

For the Thursday afternoon program over WAAW, the Conservatory presented Rachael Johnson and Hermine Hirschman in vocal numbers and Frances Kruck and Anita Benson in piano numbers.

On Monday afternoon over WAAW Mrs. Pauline Love played three piano solos, while Mrs. Lukovsky sang six vocal solos.

Students of Hastings College helped in presenting a program at the Baptist church last week to aid in making the Spanish families of that city feel welcome.

Midland's A Cappella Choir will present its home concert March 20. This program will follow the choir's singing tour into Kansas, Colorado, and Nebraska.

Dr. Frank W. Roush of the University of Chicago predicts that half the independent arts colleges will go out of existence in fifty years, because of the declining interest in the degree of bachelor of arts.

Dana Outdistanced By Muni Red Birds

The Dana Collegians held their own fairly well in the first half against the Municipal University tossers but were outdistanced, 22 to 16 after the intermission in a rough game here Friday, Feb. 23.

Sandy Armentrout, Omaha guard, and Johnson, center and captain of the visitors, collided in the second half with each being cut badly above the eyes. Several stitches were necessary to close the gashes.

The score was 10 to 9 for the Muni team at the intermission. In the second half Hegarty made three of his six fielders and Thompson shot three from the floor. Moller was Dana's chief scoring threat. Neither team had a defense and both missed numerous pot shots.

AT THE BRANDEIS

Starting Sunday Matinee, March 8th, Aulger Bros. will offer the Brandeis Theatre Players in "The Barrier," a dramatization of the greatest outdoors story ever written by Rex Beach; or we might be safe in saying the greatest story of its kind ever written by the author. "The Barrier" is a play that had the whole theatrical world talking some fifteen years ago, and was played in every English speaking country in the world. If you have read the book we are sure you will want to see the play; and if you haven't read it we know that the fact that it is a Rex Beach story will create the necessary interest to cause you to want to see the play. In the original cast when the play had its long run on Broadway and in Chicago, Theodore Roberts played the character lead, that of John Gaylord, alias John Gale, a hunted man with a price on his head. This character will be played by Harrison Aulger. Alluna the Spuaw will give Myra Jefferson one of the greatest dramatic parts she has ever played during the fifteen weeks at the Brandeis.

There are many comedy scenes during the play.

AT THE ORPHEUM

A veritable torrent of vaudeville entertainment and a stormy screen presentation of blazing hatred, flaming loyalty and glorious love; is forecast as the program of the RKO Orpheum Theatre for the week commencing Friday, March 8th.

The youthful, dynamic Ross Wyse, Jr., brings a heavy rain of laughs and steps in his fast moving skit entitled, "Bringing Up Parents." Ross Wyse qualifies as one of the most sensational acrobatic dancers to show his wares in these parts. His dad and mother appear in the act with him. All in all, this family trio can point with pride to each other.

Only a real comedian could have thought of the role which Joe Besser portrays in his comedy sketch "Wild Cat Dugan." The rotund Mr. Besser plays the part of the most unusual sort of Northwest Mounted Policeman you've ever heard of or read about. The affair also boasts of the presence of Harry Lang, Dorothy Ellsworth and Mary Novells.

Midland Courtmen Leading Conference

Unleashing an attack that swept their opponents helplessly before it, Midland College's Warriors defeated Nebraska Wesleyan, 44 to 16. The victory left Midland firmly in first place in the conference standing and a heavy favorite to cop the title.

The warriors opened at full speed and had 19 points before Wesleyan scored on two free throws. Midland was ahead, 28 to 6, at half-time.

Rules for Spectators

Now that the football season has been over for quite some time it might be well to get the University girls all trained for an effective season of spectating for the next year. A list of rules was given by Elwood D. Ullman, Jr., in his article "With the Football Season Over—" recently for effective spectating.

1. Don't get tired, cold or hungry. If by any chance you do get tired, cold or hungry, keep it to yourself.
 2. Don't make any remarks about women's fashions you note in the stadium, nor about any good-looking players that may be in the field and above all, don't play your escort with baby talk and ask him if he loves you.
 3. If you don't understand football, a game is no place to reveal your ignorance.
 4. If you have to stand in order to follow the play, stand without squawking. Remember you can always sit down—and it won't make very much difference to you even if you can't see anything but the back of a gentleman's ulster.
 5. Always bear in mind that your companion paid anywhere from $1.50 to $5 for your ticket and that he asked you along because it was the acceptable thing to do. Try to show your appreciation of his kindness by conducting yourself like an Egyptian mummy in an art museum.
- "If the time ever comes," says Ullman, "when these rules are observed, football will be much more enjoyable for the long suffering escorts. Until that happy day, they will have to solve that problem individually."

On Monday, February 2, Dr. W. Gilbert James had lunch with Dean Ralph Dennis of Northwestern university. Dr. James and Dean Dennis have been friends for several years.

Owing to lack of time, Dean Dunlap has had to discontinue his radio programs.

B. B. SEASON CLOSED WITH VALIANT FIGHT

Aggies Have Too Many Sharp Shooting Reserves

FARMERS WIN 35-29

The Cardinal basketball team closed the present season here Friday night by fighting a gallant, losing game. The Nebraska Aggies had too many sharp shooting reserves for the Omahans to coop with successfully. The Farmers took the decision, 35 to 29.

The Aggies have a fine, well balanced scoring punch which was centered on two much elongated forwards and a stretchy center. This scoring outfit was stopped throughout the first half fairly good by the great defensive play of Fred Fry and Carrol Sales. These two boys took up the slogan, "they shall not pass", and pass they did not while under the basket. Sales got a little too enthused in his play and was ejected before the half was up on personal fouls.

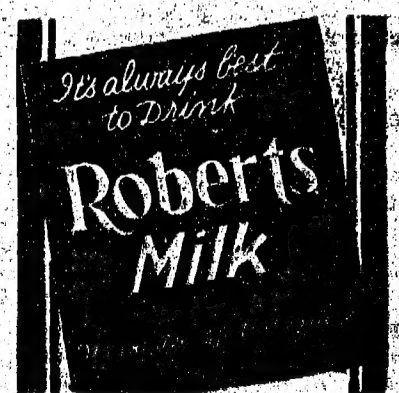

Most of the defensive play then fell on Fry's shoulders, and the burden was too great. The Cardinals were ahead most of the first half, the score was tied, 12 to 12, the Aggies tossed in a couple more which Hegarty and Huff quickly canceled. However, the farmers added two more baskets which the Cards were unable to match, and so, they held the scoring advantage at the half-way time.

In the second half, the visitors forged steadily ahead, never relinquishing the advantage they held. Farmer after farmer found the target, and they laid down a barrage of baskets with seven men scoring.

Near the end of the game, Benny Huff put Omaha again within striking distance with two quick field goals. The score was 20 to 31, but the Aggies were not going to see their hard played game slip from their fingers, so added a couple of baskets. When in need, the Aggie team always added two baskets instead of one, it seemed.

The victory gave the outfit Lincoln both ends of the series. Tulloss, guard, suffered a bad cut over the eye, leaving the game. Huff, forward, played despite a freely playing nose.

Mr. Paul L. Martin, chairman of the faculty relation committee of the new board of regents, will be the speaker at assembly, Friday, March 6. This is the first opportunity that the student body will have to hear from the new board of regents.
